Wilson James has been a security industry leader for over 25 years and employs more than 3,500 specialists across multiple industries. The Risk Advisory Service augments our existing capabilities with practical, bespoke solutions for corporate clients, private individuals and families.

Our philosophy is simple: we identify, assess and manage risk to protect a client's reputation, brand, property and shareholders.

The Risk Advisory Service is structured into four distinct functions to meet the operational security needs of our clients:

- ◆ Security Consultancy
- ◆ Intelligence
- ◆ Protection/Bodyguard Services
- ◆ Training

Security Consultancy

Wilson James provides organisations with specialist expertise for any situation, from implementing full transformation strategies to improving a specific element of an operation.

Each business or project has unique security challenges requiring dedicated, tailored analysis. Our consultancy comprises detailed analysis of the environment, site or project and identification of any specific issues or requirements, including regulations, objectives, and risks or threats which could impact achieving them.

Our security experts consistently deliver outstanding solutions to what can often be complex and high-risk challenges.

Risk Management

In order to provide the right solution, we must first understand the risks. Our consultants are widely versed in cross-functional risk management techniques. Our models enable you to track the results of our consultation – from identifying risks and creating the right management plan, to fully understanding how our solution will address your unique concerns.

Major Incident and Contingency Planning

We provide security consulting services to design and implement major incident and contingency plans, or to identify any gaps or vulnerabilities in existing plans. Going beyond simply addressing compliance requirements, we develop a disciplined, documented approach to engage your board-level executives and equip and empower your teams to recognise threats to your business, and to take swift and assured action.

Security Audits/Reviews/Surveys

Audits, reviews and surveys are the first steps in ensuring that your security service and control measures are fully compatible with all types of risks and that best practice is maintained. Whether you have a small site or a global presence, our experts will cover the full scope of the environment, site or project to ensure that your security provision minimises risk and adheres to industry standard.

Security Design and Master Planning

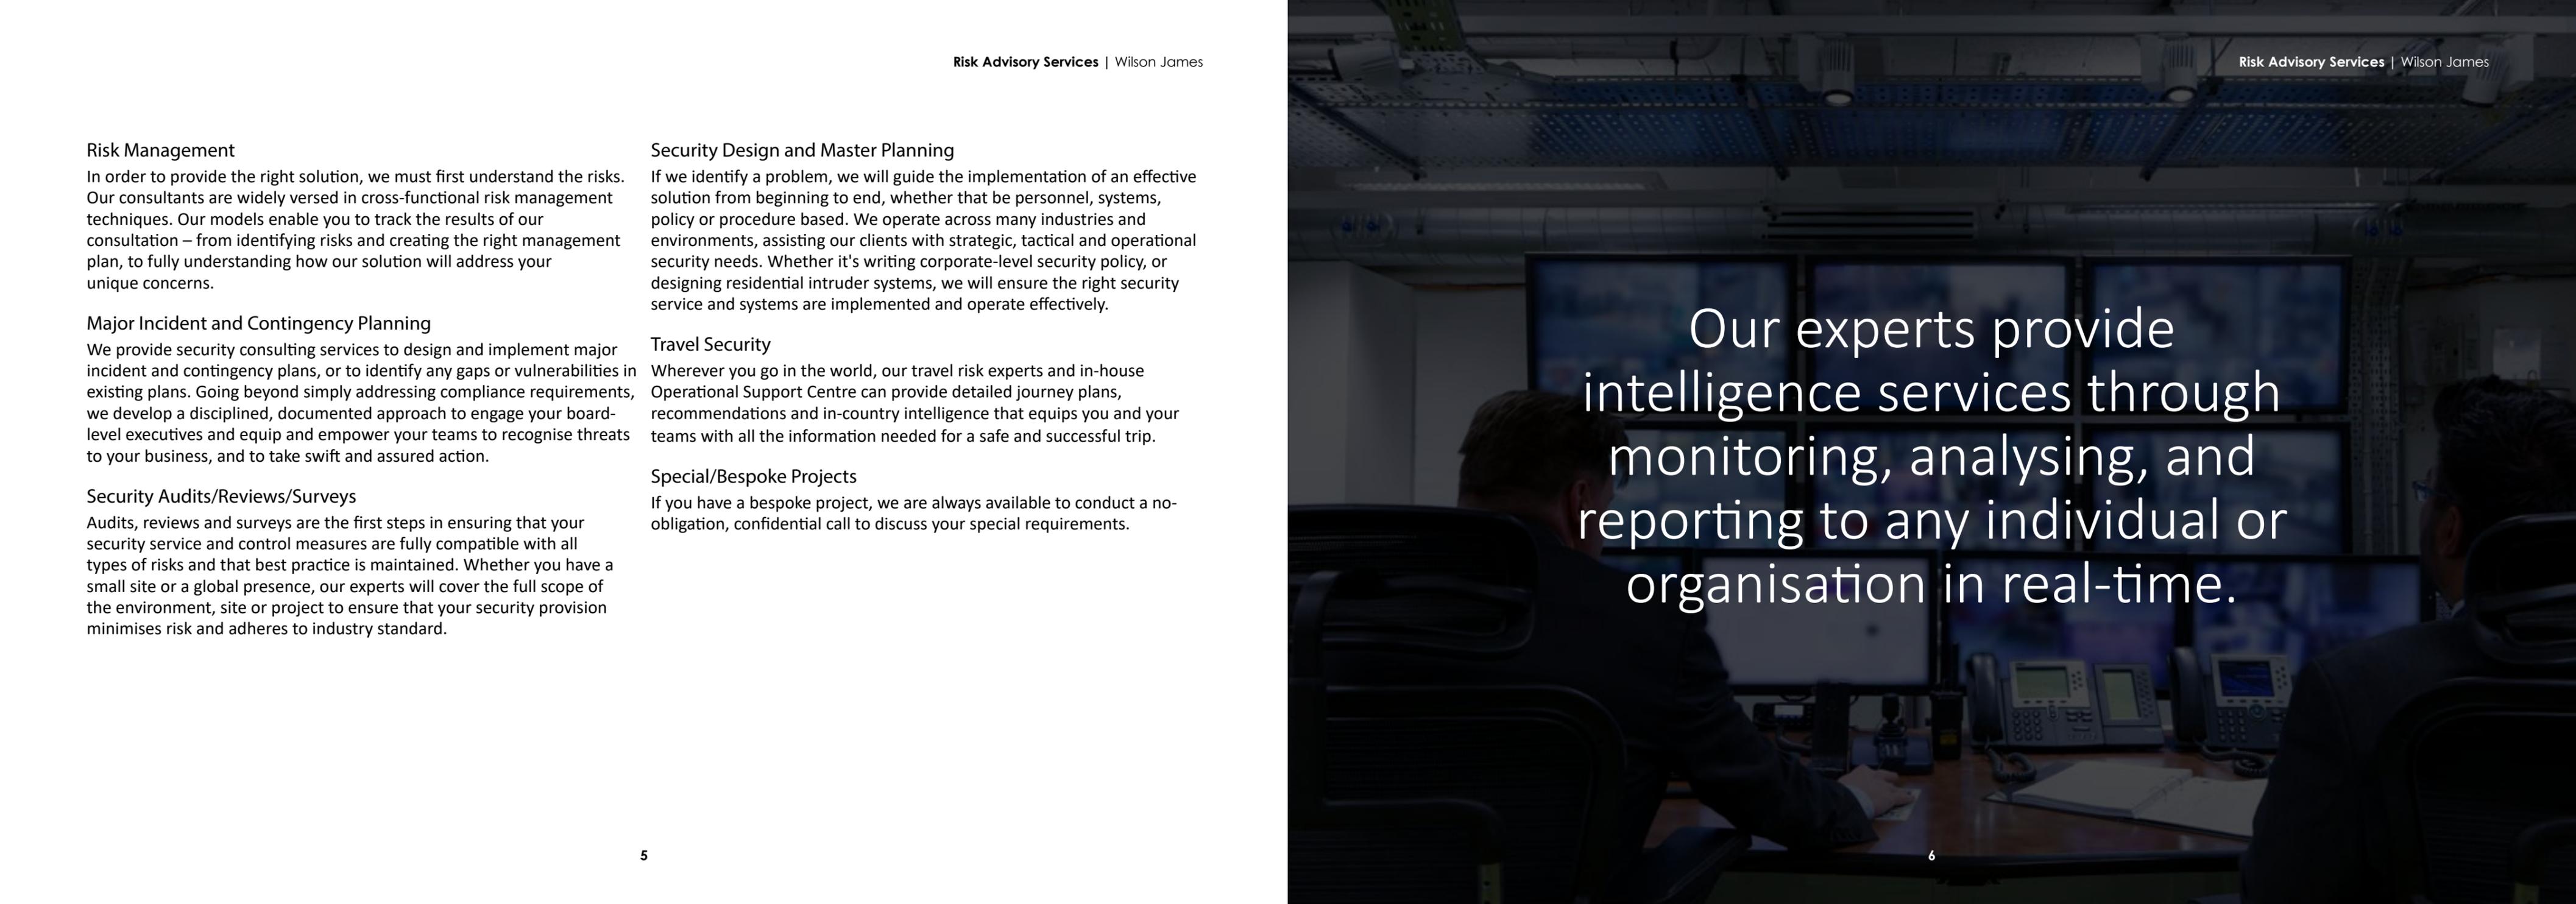

If we identify a problem, we will guide the implementation of an effective solution from beginning to end, whether that be personnel, systems, policy or procedure based. We operate across many industries and environments, assisting our clients with strategic, tactical and operational security needs. Whether it's writing corporate-level security policy, or designing residential intruder systems, we will ensure the right security service and systems are implemented and operate effectively.

Travel Security

Wherever you go in the world, our travel risk experts and in-house Operational Support Centre can provide detailed journey plans, recommendations and in-country intelligence that equips you and your teams with all the information needed for a safe and successful trip.

Special/Bespoke Projects

If you have a bespoke project, we are always available to conduct a no-obligation, confidential call to discuss your special requirements.

Our experts provide intelligence services through monitoring, analysing, and reporting to any individual or organisation in real-time.

Intelligence

Threat Monitoring and Horizon Scanning

In a fast-paced environment, potential threats are ever present and evolving. Our threat monitoring and horizon scanning service ensures that our site-based teams and clients are prepared to pre-plan and manage threat when it occurs. Through our predictive analysis and our incident communications system, we are able to act fast to prevent negative impact.

Corporate Investigations

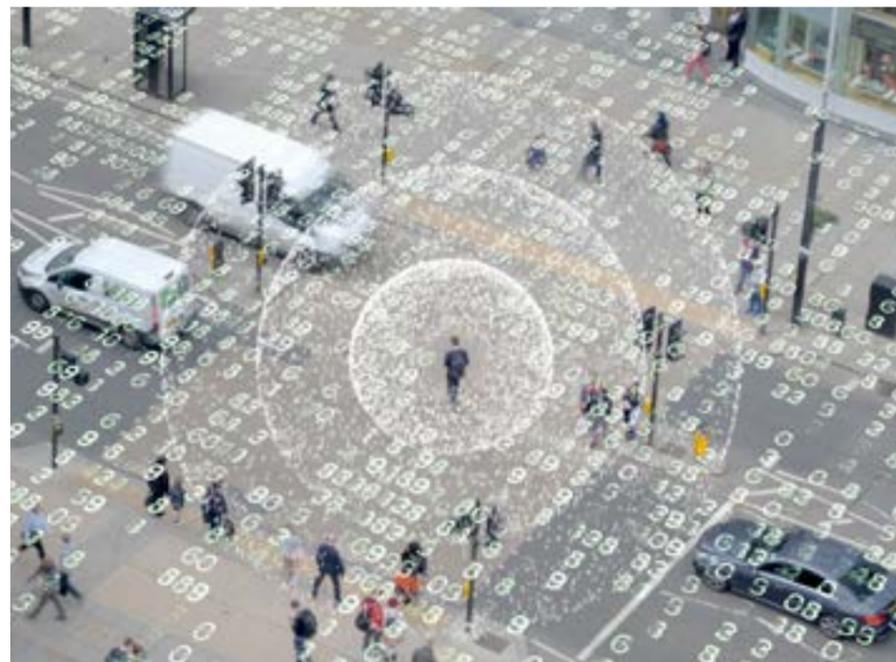

We provide clients, private businesses, family offices, entrepreneurs and professional advisors with corporate intelligence services which identify fraud, meet due diligence requirements and mitigate risk. We also provide digital and physical corporate investigations including counter-espionage, diligence and penetration testing.

Private Investigations

Our private investigators have experience in specialist services including matrimonial surveillance, and parent and child investigations. They gather evidence from surveillance, computer forensics, social media and use other strategies according to a client's requirements.

Surveillance

Our experts provide covert surveillance services to private and corporate clients around the world. We are able to track and trace individuals and gather evidence for a range of cases including fraud, theft and marital disputes.

We understand that protecting organisations, people and assets, both tangible and intangible is a necessity. Our highly trained and qualified security teams always have the required background to provide the best protection services possible.

Protection/ Bodyguard Services

Protective Surveillance

Protective surveillance allows us to keep individuals, buildings or assets safe without being obtrusive. Our clients can go about their normal routines whilst covertly surrounded by a highly trained protection team.

International Executive Protection (Close Protection)

Our carefully selected Close Protection Officers will work with you to ensure that any threat to you and your family is mitigated, whether that be in the office, at home or abroad.

To ensure an effective and productive relationship, we use psychological profiling to match you to one of our highly trained officers. We can also facilitate requests for specific languages, nationalities or genders.

Media Backwatching

From preparation to delivery, our experts protect journalists and media production teams in hostile environments in the UK or around the world.

Royalty Protection

We have vast experience working with royal families around the world. We provide a unique level of security service tailored to each royal client that considers position, etiquette, culture and location. Our services include everything from full-time protection to one-off protection for events, travel or holidays.

Residential Security Teams

No one should feel at risk in their home or worry about the security of their home when it is vacant. We provide frontline protection for property and have worked with high-net worth and upmarket clients to provide emergency, short and long-term security cover.

Security Trained Drivers

Our security drivers are highly trained protection officers who can ensure the safety of the client to and from a location, whether for business or daily travel requirements. Our team understands careful contingency planning to guarantee your safety at all times.

Technical Surveillance Counter Measures (TSCM)

We deliver Technical Surveillance Counter Measures (TSCM) for clients around the world. If you feel you or your business are under technical surveillance or at risk of data theft, our experienced team can electronically sterilise and monitor your property to keep you safe.

We use the latest technology to conduct electronic sweeps, detecting beepers and bugs in meeting rooms, offices, residences, vehicles, hotel rooms and superyachts.

Training

Whether situational awareness, travel security, medical or kidnap and ransom response, our training courses can be tailored to your requirements.

Medical Training Courses

We offer a number of medical training courses, including First Aid at Work (FAAW), First Person on Scene (FPOS), First Response Emergency Care (FREC) and Medicine in Remote Areas (MIRA). Our courses are nationally accredited and can take place at your office or home with our experienced instructors, ensuring you are fully trained to a high professional standard.

Travel Awareness Course

Our Travel Awareness Course is designed for risk-associated trips to unsafe or potentially hostile environments. Our Risk Advisory Services team delivers courses for a blended learning option from classroom to practical scenarios.

Emergency and Crisis Management Training

Our training courses and workshops on prevention, resilience and response ensure that you and your team are prepared for an emergency or crisis. We can deliver these courses at your premises and tailor them to meet your individual and organisational needs.

Threat, Risk & Vulnerability Assessment Training

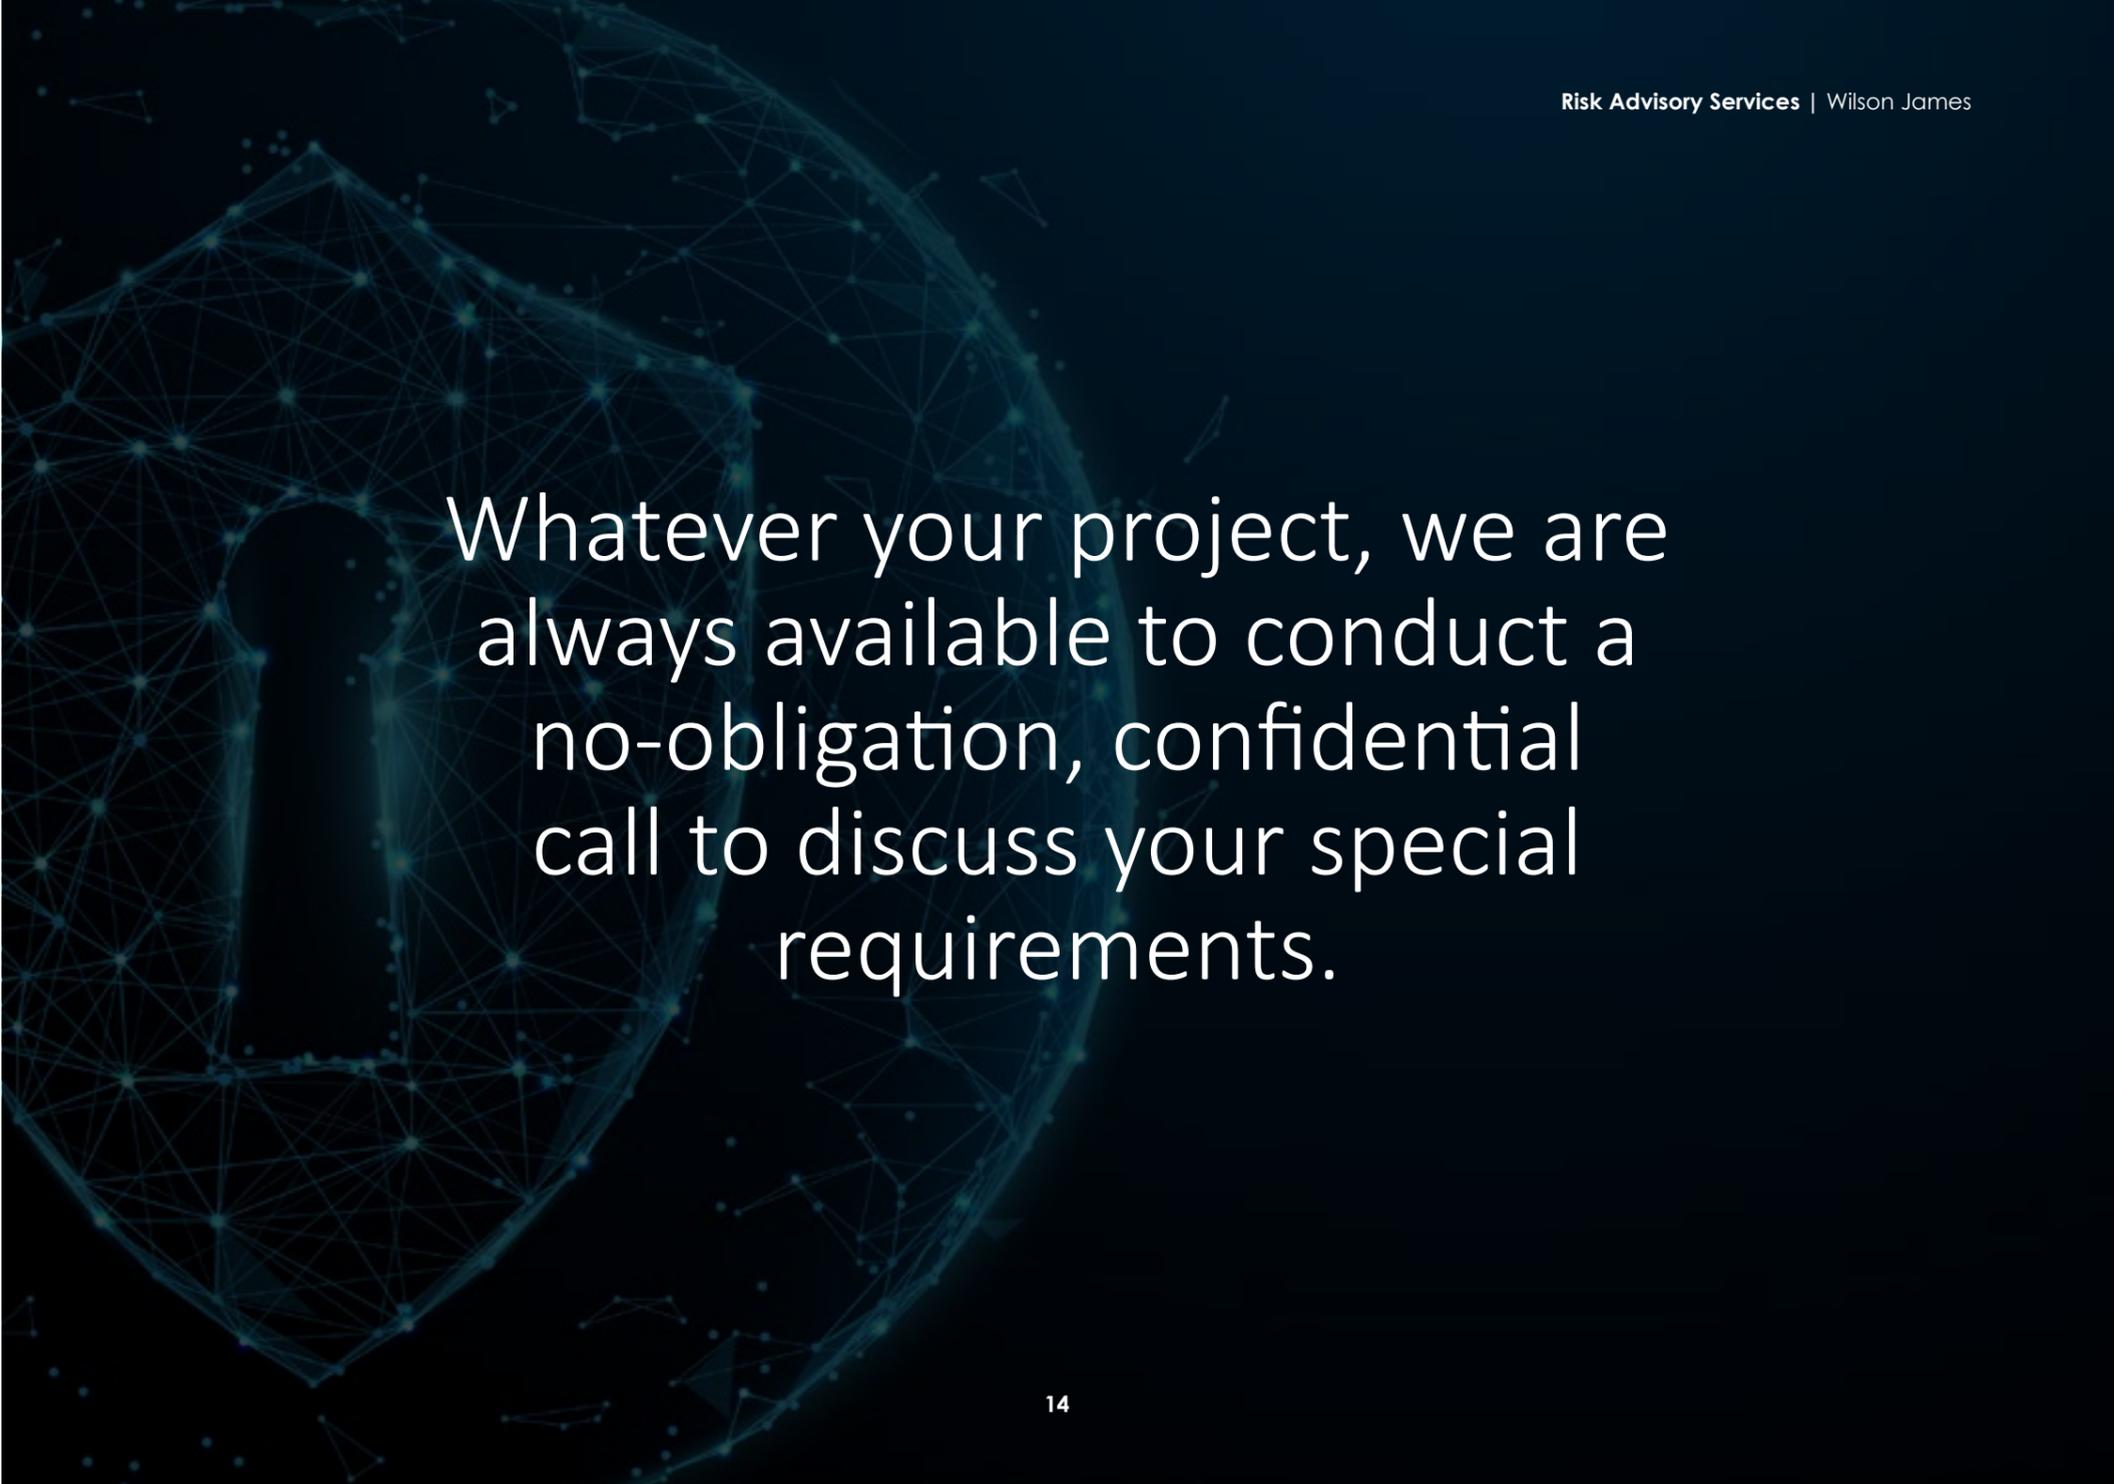

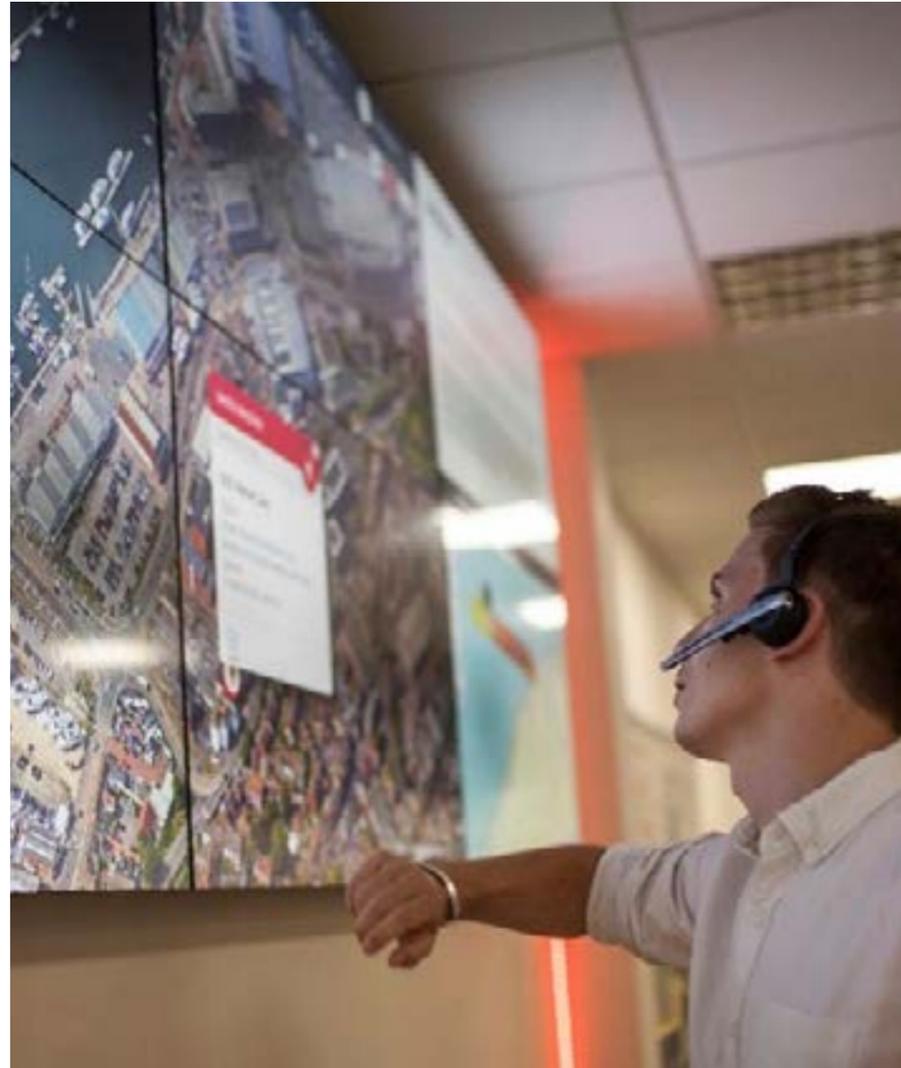

In an increasingly volatile and unpredictable world, there is a growing need to cope with greater uncertainty through intelligent planning and tailored training. We can help to mitigate against risk with customised courses, suitable in any area of the world.

Kidnap and Ransom, Capture Evasion and Survival, and Hostile Environment Training

Our specialist and interactive Kidnap & Ransom (K&R), Survive Evade Resist Escape (SERE) and Hostile Environment Awareness Training (HEAT) courses enable learners to understand and respond confidently to potential risks to their personal safety as well as the duty of care they should provide to others.

Bespoke Training

We can develop and tailor bespoke training courses to suit your needs. We not only incorporate industry best practice but are also able to provide cutting-edge solutions ensuring that your business, people and assets remain aware and well versed in security and emergency management practice.

Whatever your project, we are always available to conduct a no-obligation, confidential call to discuss your special requirements.

Taking care of security so that you can enjoy life.
